Thanks Doug. Good Sam, of course, is how you and I met several years ago. As you say, we will keep you in mind. Let's catch up on it in the coming several weeks.

Joan—

I know that you all are majorly focused on the immediate needs of addressing the Animas River spill, but I wanted to put a marker down that we—Keystone Policy Center—would be willing and eager to help restart conversations with stakeholder groups on Good Samaritan abandoned mine cleanup policies so as to help arrive at consensus and help promote greater volunteer cleanups. As Shaun knows very well, I've worked on this issue extensively in various capacities over the past 20 years or so.

Keep us in mind if and when this effort may get reenergized.

All the best,

Doug
